Roll of Honour Research

Since 2014, the museum has been researching the town's roll of honour, housed in Prittlewell Priory

Both First and Second World War casualties have been extensively researched for future generations to come, however, we are always looking for more information (including photographs, letters, postcards &c.) to expand on our digital archive.

If you, or someone you know, has any records or information relating to a local casualty on the roll of honour, why not help to preserve their memory by sending us any details.
